it works like any other browser: type a URL or a search query, and it loads a page!

but in this case, the page isn't coming from the internet. it's coming from chatGPT.

and i've asked chatGPT to pretend it's still 1996.

i like browsing the retro internet full of GIFs and marquees. but this browser can browse ~any~ internet that ever existed… or never existed.

ancient rome internet? what about the internet from star wars?
